

General terms and conditions of mini- camping De Kampeertuin 2021 (by booking via our website – or otherwise - you are accepting all terms and conditions)

Please be aware that you enter our camping at your own risk.

Dogs are not allowed on the premises.

De Kampeertuin is not liable for theft of and/or damage to your property. Do not leave your valuable belongings unattended. Charging your mobile phone, power bank, tablet, bicycle battery etc. must be done - in your presence - at your own camping pitch. It is not allowed to charge such devices from outlets in the shower rooms. In case you are not in possession of an adapter plug, you can borrow one at the reception.

You are required to use proper electrical equipment matching the electricity supply at our camping. We provide 10 amps per pitch: in the event of an overload or short circuit, the circuit breaker of the main fuse (earth leakage circuit breaker) will automatically operate and the other guests will be bothered by this since part of the camping will be without electricity as a result. The person causing the malfunction will be charged with the costs arising from this event. Using proper fuses in your camping equipment will limit the malfunction to your own pitch.

We do not accept liability for the destruction, damage and/or loss of your property present at our camping, or any liability for accidents that might occur when staying at our camping. It is your own responsibility to have an adequate insurance for your tent or caravan against storm, fire, theft, etc.

All risks related to your stay at our mini-camping are your own. Damage and/or loss of movable and immovable property of the manager/owner must be reported immediately by the user and should be reimbursed to the manager.

The administration of the manager/owner is decisive in case of mutual disagreement, unless the user can prove the contrary.

In the unlikely event that you are not able to respect the accommodation agreement entered into, you must report this to us as soon as possible, so that we can still offer the vacant pitch to others. We advise you to take out cancellation insurance.

If and insofar as these general conditions do not suffice in the case of a difference of opinion, the interpretation will be subjected to the expertise of a Dutch court of justice.